A line drawing of a rectangular table. It features a central pedestal supporting the tabletop. The table has four legs, which are curved and taper towards the bottom. The drawing is a simple black and white outline.

Technical drawing of the back cover of a Nikon SLR camera. The drawing shows the viewfinder, viewfinder window, and various controls. The viewfinder is located at the top left, and the viewfinder window is at the top right. The controls include a shutter release button, a self-timer button, a depth-of-field preview lever, and a film advance lever. The drawing is a line drawing with dimensions in millimeters (mm) and inches (in).

A detailed line drawing of a rectangular metal safe. The safe has a heavy-duty door with a large, rectangular handle on the right side. The handle is mounted on a thick, reinforced section of the door. The door is secured by multiple locking bolts, visible as small circles along the edge. The safe has a sturdy, multi-layered construction with a thick outer shell and a reinforced inner compartment. The overall design is functional and secure, typical of a high-quality metal safe.
